This 9mm Single Action Colt is a conversion using a 44 Caliber Model 'P' frame and parts from said gun. The barrel, cylinder, grips and Ejector Rod Tube was purchased at a gun show.

Mr. Howard Dove, (deceased) did the engraving and finishing of parts and grips. I, Don E. Cox, did the assembly and rework on the barrel and cylinder, making this the first 9mm single action Colt pistol. This conversion was never entered into Colt Historical Record due to my mistake.

I acquired my Colt sign from Mr. Mack Schwinger. I sold this sign to Mr. John Godroe. Prior to my possession of the sign, Mr. Martin Huber, who was Colt's Historian at that time, said he would take walks around the Plant during his lunch time and recalled seeing this sign on the Boiler Room wall. My sign had originally painted with a maroon background, with white lettering and had been painted over many times. I had it sandblasted and I painted a blue background and white lettering. There was another Colt sign on the actual boiler itself. I was told a construction worker took that sign which ended up being listed on E Bay. I couldn't the sign looked exactly like mine. I hope this letter helps you.
