Colt Second Model 1848 Dragoon percussion revolver

Range of serial numbers:	Numbered from 8,001 to 10,700
Date of manufacture:	1850 to 1851
Total production:	2700
Length of barrel:	7½ inches
Caliber:	.44
Address:	'-ADDRESS SAML COLT, NEW-YORK CITY-' or 'ADDRESS SAML COLT, NEW-YORK CITY'
Weight:	4 pounds 2 ounces

The Colt Second Model Dragoon Revolver was manufactured circa 1850 through to 1851 with a total of only about 2,700 produced. It continued the sequence from the First Model Dragoon from about serial number 8000 through to about 10700. Serial numbers are found on all major parts.

The revolver is in .44 caliber, weighs 4 pounds and 2 ounces and has a 7½ inch part round and part octagonal barrel. During its transition, parts were modified including the main-spring which changed from a V-spring to a flat design and the addition of a roller bearing where the hammer engages with the spring. The loading lever also used both the vertical and horizontal catch.

The barrel and cylinder were blued with casehardened frame, hammer and loading lever. The back-strap and square-back trigger-guard are of brass and silver-plated on commercial models and left plain on military contract revolvers. The six shot cylinder has rectangular cylinder stops with guide grooves and was roll engraved with the Texas Ranger and Comanche Indian fight scene. The revolver was furnished with one-piece walnut grips which were varnished for the commercial market and oil-stained for the military contracts. Military issue Second Model Dragoons have government inspector cartouches on the grips and letter stampings on various metal parts.

The barrel address reads from muzzle to breech either '-ADDRESS SAML COLT, NEW-YORK CITY-' or 'ADDRESS SAML COLT NEW-YORK CITY' with the 'COLT/PATENT' stamping on the left side of the frame with 'U.S.' below on Government contract revolvers. The cylinder also has a roll-engraved panel marking in large letters 'COLT'S PATENT' along with a second panel of 'MODEL U.S.M.R.' (U.S. Mounted Rifles) with the serial number stamped within. Some models have the rarer marking of 'U.S. DRAGOONS' instead of the U.S.M.R. markings. A few Second Models were cut to accept all of the three types of detachable shoulder stocks. Variations include the NEW HAMPSHIRE and Massachusetts (MS) marked militia issues.

Philip Boulton of Southampton, England has collated and recorded a survival rate of at least 7.82% of the original production of First, Second and Third Dragoon revolvers. For in-depth reference on Colt Dragoon revolvers see 'The Book of Colt Firearms- 3rd Edition' by R.L. Wilson.

Dear Mrs. Brodie,

Please forgive me for being so slow to respond to your letter and the packages of pictures. My excuse is that my father-in-law was quite ill during January & Feb. - He died on March 11, and that necessitated back trips to Idaho, where Al's parents have lived for many years. All this put me way behind in my correspondence. I'm sorry.

We were delighted with all the family pictures, many of which I hadn't seen. I inherited my mother's collection of family photos, but <sup>my sister</sup> Ellen, hadn't been too interested in them. When your packages arrived, I offered some to Ellen & she eagerly accepted. Some day I will do a better job

You asked about my mother's father & brother. I got out her family Bible & checked my memory - Here is what I can tell you: <sup>History of</sup> ~~old P.~~ <sup>old P.</sup>

Charles Davis Higby was the son of Sylvester Norton Higby & Eliza Hayes Davis. He was born & taught in the 53rd Ohio Regt (1861-1864). He died June struck by a train on the family farm at Higby (Ross) Ohio. <sup>History of</sup> ~~old P.~~ <sup>old P.</sup>

His son, Charles Davis N. was my grandmother's brother was the 5th (of 6) children of Charles Davis Higby & Mary Lou. He was born May 16, 1882 (

married Minnie Pendergrass June 27, 1906. Their 2 daughters <sup>were</sup> - Neva, born 1908 & Louise, born 1910.

I have not received a copy of the celebration of Mabel's life - I would love to have a copy & will make a copy to send to Ellen if you will send one to me.

I have fond memories of Mabel - and Charlie - as a child. We got to see them for Christmas & summer vacations in Washington. They were very generous. We last visited Mabel about 1983, when we took our children south & visited relatives on both sides of the family. (all parents' families were from Georgia.)
I know <sup>Mabel</sup> she was close to my mother & Mabel & I talked often during Mother's final illness.
I would have provided you with
