

THIS RARE GRADE IV A-5 (CIRCA 1939) WAS RECENTLY
COMPLETELY REFURBISHED IN THE ARNOLD GUNSHOP. IT REPRESENTS THE HIGHEST QUALITY IN PRE-WAR MANU-FACTURING AND REFLECTS THE SKILLS AND PRIDE OF TODAYS GUNSMITHS.

THE TRADITION GOES ON!

IT IS PRESENTED FOR YOUR VIEWING PLEASURE ONLY.

In this model every metal surface is hand polished and blued by a painstaking process, with the result that the eye is instantly struck by the mirror-like smoothness and satin-like sheen. Even the inner working parts, which are hidden from view, are hand polished. Stocks are of choicest European walnut, the incomparable grain and luster of which is a particular delight to gun lovers. The illustration merely suggests the embellishment—hand-engraved hunting scenes, birds, dogs, etc., which a sportsman enjoys tracing and retracing when sitting down to rest or during a slow hour in a marsh.

Specifications available same as listed on page 5. Stocks to special specifications at no extra charge when purchasing a new Grade 3. Stocks of special dimensions in air big game guns no longer furnished without charge. See price list.

Grade 4

This model represents an unsurpassed example of European gunsmithing, which has been developed to a fine art. The ornamentation is a delicate design, inlaid by hand in green and yellow gold. The product of exclusive jewelers is not wrought with more exquisite skill than is this magnificent sporting arm. It is identical with Grade 3 in metal finish, inside and out, stocks and so forth. A choice between Grades 3 and 4 is entirely a matter of taste, as each typifies the last word in gun design of its kind and each is finished by men who have their hearts in their work. Like all Browning Shotguns this model is made to USE!

Specifications available same as listed on page 5. Stocks to special specifications at no extra charge when purchasing a new Grade 4.

ILLUSTRATION E

ILLUSTRATION F

TWO GUNS IN ONE...by use of an extra barrel

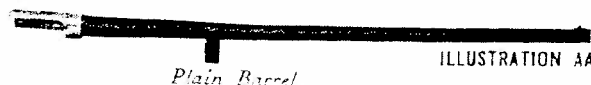

Among the many advantages of the Browning Automatic Shotgun is the fact that an extra barrel in any bore or choke of the same gauge can be fitted so that it is instantly interchangeable. In reality, the Genuine Browning Automatic Shotgun thus becomes two or more guns at only the price of an extra barrel. By merely purchasing an extra barrel, or barrels, you can make one gun serve practically all of your shooting needs.

Whenever shooting conditions require a different choke it is best to purchase a complete new extra barrel for consistent and dependable performance and results instead of any choking device barrel attachment.

A cylinder, improved cylinder or modified barrel will give you ideal results on upland birds and skeet, while a full choke barrel instantly changes your gun into a splendid arm for water fowl or trap shooting. Such a "two or three barrel" gun also gives another important advantage. By using the same gun with extra barrels for all of your shooting, you develop a familiarity with it which means greater success and shooting satisfaction.

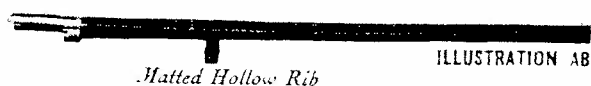

Extra barrels are available in all standard lengths and chokes in 12 or 16 Gauge, as listed in specifications on page 5.

Extra barrels are available without rib or with raised matted hollow or ventilated rib.

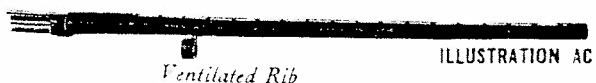

Plain Barrel

ILLUSTRATION AA

Matted Hollow Rib

ILLUSTRATION AB

Ventilated Rib

ILLUSTRATION AC