In regard to Winchester Model 21s, specifically S.Ns. W33100 and W33101, which were built in the 1980s. Both Model 21s were originally conceived to be part of a Model 21-5Gauge Set consisting of 12, 16, 20, 28 and 410 gauges. However, at the time that I had the 12, 16 and 20 gauges made, Winchester could not build the 28-410 gauge-set for me. The reason being, that I had insisted on consecutive serial numbers to follow the 12, 16 and 20 numbers. Consequently, the project was put on hold.

A couple of years later, Winchester was able to provide me with the consecutive serial numbers, 33100 and 33101 but not in sequence with the original 3-gauge set. So, I continued the project with help from both Winchester and Connecticut Shotgun Manufacturing Company. I was also fortunate enough to have Nick Kusmit, Winchester Master Engraver, Retired, do the same pattern as was on the original M21-3gauge set. The wood work was done by John Durkin, Winchester Master Wood Carver, Retired. So, the 2 Model 21s with the S.N. W33100 and S.N. W33101 are listed with the specifications on a separate sheet.

I hope this explains everything to your satisfaction.

Sincerely truly,

Edward E. Ulrich

I wanted to thank you again for your purchase of the two (2) Winchester Model 21 Grand American shotguns. These guns were made originally as a five (5) gun set and these two (2) were the last ones made in that set. Each gun has two sets of barrels and has it's original factory leather trunk case.

Each gun is valued at $ 49,000.00 for a total investment of $ 98,000.00 for the pair.

The 28 gauge gun is serial # W 33100.

The .410 gun is serial # W 33101

I know you will enjoy these unique and rare one of a kind shotguns for many years to come.

Kindest Regards,

In reference to the Model 21 "Grand Royals", the basic facts behind the guns, versus what is happening today, is somewhat different.

The original idea behind this special set of guns was made between one of our marketing Vice-Presidents, approximately 10 years ago, and Kurtz Hardware in order to help them celebrate a very long standing anniversary in the gun business. The agreement was made only because these guns were to originally be done and sold with all profits donated to charitable organizations. As to whether that will end up happening at some point today, I certainly do not know.

At any rate, these pieces included a gun bearing serial #W9190 which was to be built and presented through the Kurtz organization to John Olin. This is the piece completed by Alvin White, which to my knowledge is somewhere in Texas. The gun was a 28 gauge with a set of 26" skeet barrels with an interchangeable barrel, .410, 26" full and modified. The gun was furnished in the white stages less wood. To my knowledge it was to have both the wood and engraving completed by Alvin White. This is the gun which we in turn exhibited in Texas back in 1982.

The next gun in line, which as I understood it, was to go to Mr. Kurtz himself, was also delivered in the white stages to have both wood and metal completed, bearing serial #W33121. This gun was a 3 barrel set, 20 gauge, 26" skeet #1 and #2, 28 gauge 26" skeet and skeet, and a third set of .410 bore barrels, 26" skeet and skeet again.

The rest of the guns were consecutively serially numbered, #33101, #33102, #33103, #33104, and #33105. All of these pieces were furnished, also in the white stage, without wood. To my knowledge, on all sets, the original arrangement included Alvin White completing everything.

October 31, 1988

Two final notes Larry, first, serial #33102 was sold by Kevin to the same individual who evidently bought serial #W9190. It was returned to the factory and we placed standard factory Grand American wood on the gun and had Howard Dove engrave the piece in the manner specified by the customer. Lastly, serial #W33101, as far as the factory is concerned, is now an unusuable gun. When it was sent to Mr. Kurtz in the white stages, he had someone attempt to turn the barrels down on the outside and when the barrels were returned to us, they were rippled and thin. We did not consider them safe. The frame was also ruined in that an attempt was made to skeletonize that frame, and in doing so, whoever did it went right through the bottom of the receiver. We returned the gun to Mr. Kurtz, as is, in 1984.

I hope this information covers your questions.

Sincerely,
U.S. REPEATING ARMS COMPANY

Serial number W9190. Photographs taken in the process of manufacture of the most deluxe Model 21 produced through the factory. The Grand Royale (originally made for presentation to John M. Olin, the gun had not been completed at time of his death in 1982, although the idea for the series and actual production date back to c. 1979-80). All engraving and gold inlaying by A. A. White and so signed. The relief gold portrait of Mr. Olin and other relief inlays are executed in 18 karat gold. Note unique approach to adding engraving and gold work by inlaying the ovals on each side of the stock, just to the rear of the frame and doing it in a way to match the inset cut on back section of the frame. Author considers this gun a strong statement of the ability of the U. S. Repeating Arms Company and its custom shop to carry on the excellence of craftsmanship of past generations of Winchester craftsmen.

A limited series of four additional Grand Royale Model 21s, each of the deluxe nature of the John Olin gun, are in production (numbers W33103, W33104, W33105, W33121). Note: Numbers W33101 and W33102 were part of this series, but the former was partly damaged in production and is no longer a usable gun. Number W33102 was not done in Grand Royale pattern, but in a different style, as requested by the purchaser, and executed by Winchester Custom Shop.

At this writing only the Olin Grand Royale and number W33103 have been by A. A. White, entirely, all other guns have been jointly engraved by White and Andrew Bourbon, who is emerging as one of the foremost engravers and inlayers in the firearms field.

The original Grand Royale concept was inspired by the long association of Kurtz Hardware Company (longtime Winchester jobbers and dealers) and the friendship and admiration of the Kurtz family for Mr. Olin. Kevin Kurtz worked with Win-

SUBJECT: Model 21 -- Grand American Royal Series

Dear Kevin:

This letter will document our recent discussions whereby you have commissioned Winchester to produce three or four extremely engraved guns that will represent a product appearance considerably enhanced over our present Model 21 Grand American version.

These Grand American Royal guns will be made to your specifications and as you stated to me, they are in celebration of Kurtz's 125 years in business as Kurtz Hardware. You do not plan to resell these guns but do intend to use them as gifts and/or funding-raising endeavors; e.g., auction for charity purposes. After the specifications are finalized, we will provide you with a final price quote to develop the economic details of the work that you commissioned.

Winchester is certainly enthused about supporting your concept of having the Grand American Royal series as the finest modern firearms made in the world.

Sincerely yours,

Richard M. Pelton
Director, Marketing

Engraving Includes a raised gold inlay of King Buck on the trigger plate with the inscription "KING BUCK". Other features include the "Winchester" horse and rider on left side and King Buck on the right side of the receiver, both in raised gold inlay. Gold oak leaves and delicate gold lines highlight both sides of the receiver. Both the barrel inscriptions and the engraved rib panels "GRAND ROYAL HAND BUILT BY WINCHESTER" are gold inlaid. The rib is a Royal blue finish. The first four inches of barrel from the breech are engraved with gold inlays. Top lever engraved along with gold inlaid of "Winchester" horse and rider. Gold crowns inlaid on top of receiver. Engraving accomplished by Alvin White.

Additional Features Full fancy "AA" American Black walnut stock in the "GRAND ROYAL" configuration by Jerry Fisher, with side panels fitted into the scalloped receiver with a silver and gold plaque inlaid on both sides into the ebony side panels. Both forearms are beavertail style. There are a great many other features to this piece which include a hand rubbed oil finish - red bead front sight - metal middle sight - gold plated trigger - all bright surfaces hand engine turned - gold oval inlay in stock picturing King Buck. Accompanying this set is a trunk style leather case with a zippered canvas cover. Finished blue at engraved parts and the fitting of the leather case accomplished by Custom Shop. The companion to this unique shotgun can be seen on page 448 in the 1989 Edition of A. L. Wilson's book "Winchester Engraving".

This letter is certainly long overdue to you and Lynda. Larry and I had a marvelous time meeting you and your family and enjoying some of your guns -- not to mention a terrific meal.

On Friday, I finally talked to Larry Wilson, after trying to get him for several weeks regarding Kevin Kurtz and the Grand American Royal guns. He had no information other than to say one gun had been completed and sold. He suggested I call Kurtz, which I did.

I left word at Kurtz Hardware Friday morning. I then called the old number I had for his residence and an operator said the number had been disconnected. Kevin called me late in the afternoon. Before I could ask about your guns, he said he talked to you the day after I had dinner with you. He said, because of Alvin White's illness, the guns had been delayed but were going to be completed shortly. He said he would be in touch with me about promotion on the series since he was to offer several of his for charity auctions -- I still don't know what the real facts are. I'll let you know if I hear from him. I think my advice to you would be to start to pursue some kind of legal action.

Again, I'm sorry it has taken so long to get back to you. I have sent something for David -- hope it gets him started in the sport!

Best regards,

Rich
